The feedback controller is a system for stabilizing the work transfer speed employing the piezoelectric type vibration sensor developed by our company that has been used so as to maintain the constant vibration acceleration. The new type digital controller is adding an feedback unit, and can be used as a feedback controller. In addition, compared to conventional products, the board saves in space to 1/4.